Unlock the Power of Plasma Energy with Plasmage

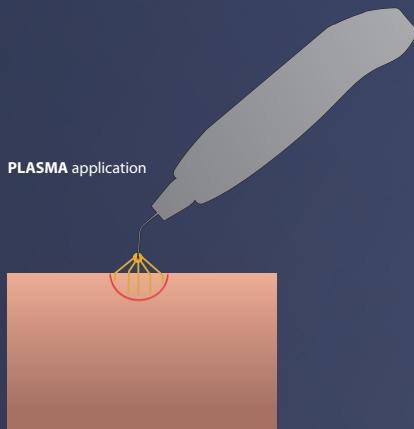

Plasmage represents a breakthrough in skin treatment technology by harnessing plasma energy to delicately treat tissues. This patented fractional plasma technology delivers precise and controlled micro-injuries to treat a variety of skin concerns including fine lines and wrinkles, droopy eye lids, xanthelasma, fibromas, and more.

With continuous and fractional pulse formats, and a multitude of adjustable settings, Plasmage provides unparalleled control, unsurpassed safety, and utmost precision.

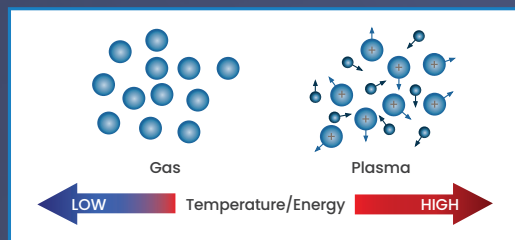

Mechanism of Action

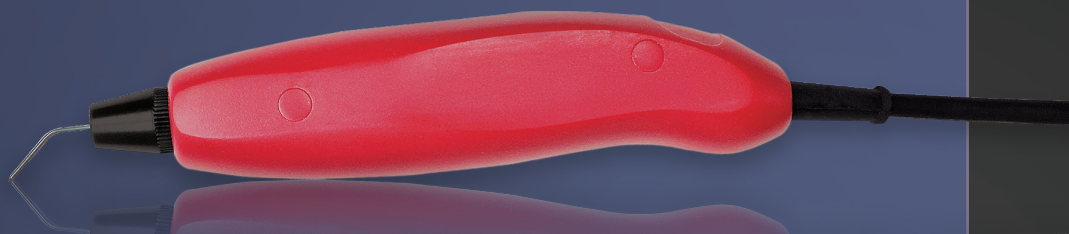

Plasma, often referred to as "the fourth state of matter," is created by superheating gas until electrons are ripped away from the atoms forming an ionized gas. The ionized gas is directed through a compact handpiece, generating a plasma discharge at the handpiece's base. This process results in a controlled microinjury to the skin. The delicately delivered superficial pulses coagulate the tissue resulting in contraction of the skin. The patented fractional technology allows the user to fine-tune the intensity of the pulse, the power, and the number of shots per pulse enabling a customized energy delivery for optimal treatment outcomes.

Plasma discharge is created above the skin keeping the energy penetration on the top layers of the eidermis.

Gas is heated and converted into ionized gas passed through a small handpiece.

An Instrument for Precision, Perfection and Confidence

Plasmage is an instrument of precision and control offering a comprehensive range of features including a multitude of energy settings as well as continuous and fractional modes. This extensive selection provides practitioners with the parameters needed for precise customization based on treatment protocol, ensuring both a high level of safety and efficacy. This patented plasma technology enables swift patient treatment, offering the benefit of reduced downtime.
